The Security Council has primary responsibility, under the Charter, for the maintenance of international peace and security. It is so organized as to be able to function continuously, and a representative of each of its members must be present at all times at the United Nations Headquarters. On 31 January 1992, the first ever Summit Meeting of the Council was convened at the Headquarters, attended by Heads of States and Governments of 13 of its 15 members and by the Ministers for Foreign Affairs of the remaining two. The Council may meet elsewhere than at its Headquarters; in 1972, it held a session in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and the following year in Panama City, Panama.

When a complaint concerning a threat to peace is brought before it, the Council's first action is usually to recommend to the parties to try to reach agreement by peaceful means. In some cases, the Council itself undertakes investigation and mediation. It may appoint special representatives or request the Secretary-General to do so or to use his good offices. It may set forth principles for a peaceful settlement.

When a dispute leads to fighting, the Council's first concern is to bring it to an end as soon as possible. On many occasions, the Council has issued cease-fire directives, which have been instrumental in preventing wider hostilities. It also sends United Nations peacekeeping forces to help calm tensions in troubled areas, keep opposing forces apart and create conditions of calm in which peaceful settlements may be sought. The Council may decide on enforcing measures, economic sanctions (such as trade embargoes) or collective military actions.

A Member State against which preventive or enforcing action has been taken by the Security Council may be suspended from the exercise of the rights and privileges of membership by the General Assembly on the recommendation of the Security Council. A Member State, which has persistently violated the principles of the Charter, may be expelled from the United Nations by the Assembly on the Council's recommendation.

A State, which is a Member of the United Nations but not of the Security Council, may participate, without a vote, in its discussions when the Council considers that that country's interests are affected. Both Members of the United Nations and non-members, if they are parties to a dispute being considered by the Council, are invited to take part, without a vote, in the Council's discussions; the Council sets the conditions for participation by a non-member State.

The Presidency of the Council rotates monthly, according to the English alphabetical listing of its member States.

Delegates having declared themselves Present and Voting cannot abstain during votes on all matters until the next Roll Call.

4.2. Procedural Matters

Procedural matters are those matters relating to the structure of the Security Council session as defined in the ThessISMUN Rules of Procedure. They include, but are not limited to, voting on establishing a Speaker’s List, motions and the adjournment of the Security Council session. All Delegates must vote on procedural matters by raising their placards and no Delegate may abstain.

4.3. Substantial Matters

Substantial matters are defined as those matters relating to the specific topic at hand. On a substantial matters, all delegates who are “Present” may abstain, and, even more important, the required majority for that motion to pass is nine including the five concurring votes of the Permanent Members. Delegates that have established their presence at the initial Roll Call shall act accordingly. Roll Call vote on substantive matters is in order following the voting procedure as set in section 17.1. The Abstention of a Permanent Member during the voting procedure on a substantial matter does not hinder the matter under consideration to pass.

If one or more Permanent Members vote against a draft resolution, amendment or on any other substantive matter, the item that the Security Council is voting upon, fails. The abstention of a Permanent Member does not block the approval of a motion.

6. Quorum

To begin a Council session all members of the Security Council must be present, which will be verified through Roll Call carried out by the Chairpersons, following rule 4.1. If quorum is not met thirty (30) minutes after the scheduled start time of the Security Council session, the Security Council shall start its session with the number of delegates already present, unless otherwise instructed by ThessISMUN Secretariat. Participants arriving during or after the Roll Call, are required to send a note to the Chair stating their presence in the Council. As long as participants have not informed the Chair of their arrival they will not be recognized or allowed to vote. All participants who have not informed the Chair of their arrival until voting procedure begins are not eligible to vote. The total number of delegates will be determined by the attendance list from the most recent Council session. If quorum is in question in the first Security Council session, the list of delegations expected to attend will serve to determine the total number of delegates in attendance. Quorum will be assumed to be present unless specifically challenged and shown to be absent. The Chair may at any time, and especially before entering voting procedures, revisit the quorum at his/her own discretion.

6.1. Motion to Verify the Quorum

Delegates may propose a Motion to Verify of Quorum, where the Chair will proceed with Quorum confirmation by initiating a Roll Call. The Chair can rule the Motion dilatory without option for appeal.

7. Agenda

7.1. Only topics set on the provisional Agenda provided by ThessISMUN shall be considered by the Security Council.

7.2. Motion to set the Agenda.

Following the Motion to Set the Quorum, a Motion to Set the Agenda on a specific topic will be in order. The Chair will consider the Motions in the order in which they were made. The Chair will take one (1) Speaker in favour and one (1) Speaker against the Motion and proceed with a vote. The Speaker's Time in Favour and Against the Motion shall be equal and determined by the Chair and the Speakers will receive the floor in rotation (in favour – against). If the Motion passes, requiring simple majority, the Agenda will be set in the manner suggested by the Motion. If the Motion fails, the Chair shall consider the next Motion and repeat the aforementioned process. If no Motion to set the Agenda receives the necessary majority, then the Security Council will discuss as first the topic that gathered the most positive votes during the voting procedure. The order in which the Agenda is set at the beginning of the conference shall remain the same for the duration of the conference. Once the Agenda is set, the Chair will entertain a Motion to Establish a Speakers' List.

7.3. Alteration of the Agenda

In the event of an international crisis or emergency, the Secretary General or his/her Deputies may call upon the Council to table debate on the current topic area so that the more urgent matter may be attended to immediately. Disagreement with the content of a Delegate's speech does not constitute sufficient justification for a Right of Reply. This point may not interrupt a speaker but should be addressed the moment he/she will has finished his/her speech. When the Chair announces that the Security Council is entering voting procedure, no entering or exiting from the room will be permitted, unless there is an emergency or until the voting procedure has come to an end. All auxiliary personnel, such as Journalists, Observers, Advisors etc. are required to immediately exit the room. The Board may or may not allow the Administrative Staff to remain in the room. Note passing is suspended. At this time, Motions to Split the House, Divide the Question or Roll Call Voting are in order.

16. Order of Voting

Draft resolutions on the same Topic Area should be voted according to the number they were assigned by the Secretariat.

16.1. Motion to Reorder Draft Resolutions

A Motion to Reorder Draft Resolutions will be in order immediately after entering voting procedure, and before voting has started on any draft resolution. The delegate proposing a Motion to Reorder Draft Resolutions will have to state the order in which he/she desires the Draft Resolutions to be voted upon.

17. Method of Voting

Each Delegate of the Security Council has one vote and must demonstrate his/her voting intentions by raising his/her placard at the Chair's request unless there is a Roll Call vote (see Rule 17.1). Delegates must vote “in favour” or “against” on procedural matters and “in favour”, “against” or “abstain” on substantive matters. No Delegate shall vote on behalf of another Delegate. Abstentions are not counted as negative votes.

17.1. Roll Call Vote

Roll Call Motions are in order only for substantive matters. This Motion is automatically accepted unless the Chair rules it out of order; the decision is not subject to appeal. The Roll Call starts from a Delegate, randomly selected by the Chair.

17.2. Passing

During Roll Call, a Delegate may choose to pass. The Chair will place the Delegate at the bottom of the voting list. A Delegate who has passed once during a voting sequence may not pass again or abstain, but must ascertain his/her vote. A delegate who has passed cannot vote “with Rights”.

17.3. Voting with Rights

A Delegate may request a right of explanation after voting. Upon completion of voting, and after the Delegates who passed have ascertained their vote, Board will allow those voting with rights to explain their vote. The Chair may limit the speaking time at his/her discretion.

17.4. Voting on Draft Resolutions

Draft Resolutions will be voted upon, in the order that they were numbered by the Secretary General and the Deputy Secretary Generals, unless a motion to Reorder Draft Resolutions (rule 16.1) has passed.

17.5. Motion to Split the House

The Motion to Split the House is in order when the Delegate proposing this Motion wishes to exclude abstention from the voting options during the final vote on the Draft Resolution. This Motion has to be proposed immediately after the Security Council Closes Debate and enters Voting Procedure. This Motion is a substantial one. Once the Motion passes, delegations shall not be allowed to abstain during the voting of the resolution.

17.6. Motion to Divide the Question

Prior to the start of the voting procedure on a Draft Resolution, a Delegate may rise to a Motion to Divide the Question in order to vote on an individual operative clause, a group of operative clauses or clause by clause. A Delegate must specify how he/she wishes to divide the operative clauses.

Should there be more than one Motion to divide the question on the floor, the Security Council shall vote upon the Motions, starting from the most disruptive one. The Chair shall take one (1) Speaker in favour and one (1) Speaker against the first Motion to Divide the Question for a speaking time of one (1) minute each. The Motion is considered to be a substantial one. If the Motion passes, subsequent Motions to Divide the Question will be ruled dilatory and the Security Council will proceed to voting on the Draft Resolution in the manner suggested by the Motion. If the Motion fails, the remaining Motions will be considered in accordance with the above procedure.

The divided section that fails during voting will be taken out of the final Draft Resolution; only those sections that have passed will remain. Subsequently, the Security Council will proceed to vote on the new final Draft Resolution as a whole.

18. Self Governance of the Security Council

The Security Council reserves the right to decide internally, in cooperation with the Secretary General or the Deputies acting on his/her behalf and the Chair, on matters not covered in the present Rules of Procedure. Ultimately the decision of the Secretary General or the Deputy Secretary Generals outranks that of the Council.
